Bottled water meeting with Northern Rivers Guardians - Sun 9 December?

Message:

Dear Members,

I'd like to introduce myself. I work in the Office of the Chief Scientist & Engineer (OCSE) and as you may be aware, the NSW Chief Scientist & Engineer has recently been requested by the Hon Niall Blair, MLC, to conduct an independent review into the impacts of bottled water on groundwater resources in the Northern Rivers region of NSW.

Our first report of the review has been requested by 1 February, and prior to submitting that report, OCSE, with several water experts, intends to hold a site visit to meet with relevant stakeholders in the Northern Rivers region and hear their concerns.

The main window for us to come up before Christmas is this Sunday 9 December, to meet with community stakeholders and hold meetings with relevant councils on Monday 10 December.

I apologise that the notice is so short, and I appreciate that you are busy, but we are hoping to schedule a meeting with members of the Northern Rivers Guardians for Sunday afternoon on the 9th if possible.

We plan to have a meeting room in Murwillumbah most of Sunday afternoon.

I will await your feedback about whether representatives from will be available to meet Sunday afternoon.

Please feel free to call me if you'd like to speak about this email.

Best wishes
Carrie Waring
