

Hilary Clinton meanwhile, on one of her many visits to Australia has been here recently saying that more women would be involved in politics and be given positions of power and while all that is fine, it is pandering to the female vote, or backing in her case. What she doesn't mention is the damage her American troops have done in Queensland over many years dropping depleted uranium bombs on it. While I've always been grateful for the protection the US has provided Australia with over the years, there's nothing to stop the alliance being a protection racket into the bargain, while 90% of the US navy are stationed just north of us for some reason. There's the fact that they grabbed a lot of our wheat business in the last 5 years, and one year they had a crop problem with their oranges called brown rot while ours were looking good, which later broke out in the same disease. Then there's the highway being built from Mexico up through the mid-east of the US that finally ends at Toronto, as a plan to later run down through South America for when they finally convince people there to join the amalgamation with all the Americas, in an attempt at more control. Then there's the fact that Hillary is a member of the Bilderberg group which is a branch of the Illuminati, which sits at Toronto. I feel it's more about control than actual friendship in their case, I hope I'm wrong. Even so, they have a reputation of destruction wherever they go.

Meanwhile as the snow has mysteriously melted at the Northern hemisphere, the Russians and their friends the yanks are mining gold, oil and diamonds there. They will probably call it the greenhouse effect. Don't mention HAARP. Apparently Las Vegas is the holiday destination for their friends and I hear the crime is up there. It's just been said recently that the petroleum companies own a lot more of the pharmaceutical companies than before, in fact, the news is saying all. It's strange when one realizes that the hot flushes that women get are all caused by petrochemicals (Amongst many other ailments) and yet the pharmaceutical companies don't cure it, but in fact add more prescriptions of pills to the mix with each new development. And all this while they won't allow free clean energy to emerge from hidden patents. This demonstrates why the mining for coal seam gas is intrinsically linked to petroleum companies, all of which produce a totally useless product that sucks the life out of the whole of the community and smashes the environment. New figures in are showing 200 species extinct every week. The source is good, but will check again. We are running at a terrible loss that can only end in disaster if left to continue.

The reason this has been written in such a way is to show that business gets more and more out of touch with the community to the point of being downright dangerous. It does this by continually circumventing the rules, thereby expanding its revenue return, then using offers of kickbacks and favors. The end result is that people work far too much for too little return while the employer becomes more involved with crime and shows the position of business has to change radically. It's not a document to make one feel sad, but to demonstrate the public's ability to own and receive far more worth but creating real products and implementing a new program. The return on the new system will make the old one show less than 1% return. It's time to focus on what things could be like.

It seems the radiation problem, worldwide has grown to be far bigger than one might have hoped. At the start of the release of radiation in Japan it became a report (Even though our media worldwide don't report it, and are consequently most obviously involved in this worldwide genocide being perpetuated on all of humanity and life as we know it) that is first threatens the northern hemisphere. So it went west first and ran into California, although there are more atmospheric and sea currents then went to the rest of the northern hemisphere. The radiation off California is as high as that at Fukushima. The Californians recently had a crop of almonds and another crop that they tried to sell to their allies Australia, who declined, and so it went to, yes you guessed it, Japan; who has been under murderous pressure from their government and yakuza to eat all local food since the event. It is like everyone in any position of power is in on the promise of some sort of deal or giant kickback. One only has to speak to the locals and it's what they say. Apparently Tokyo was finished in so far as radiation goes in 2012. Again, where has our media been threatened, I mean, gone? Eventually the radiation will reach the southern hemisphere by way of sea currents and air pressure, which comes down to earth with each rain. We sure seem to be getting lots of rain this year on the east coast, as courtesy and gift from our trusted leaders. It's also been found that the British have been dumping depleted uranium waste in the Irish sea for years, and the sea current goes from there down the west coast of Africa and up around Asia and then back around the bottom of Africa to where it starts again. Also uranium waste is being dumped continually in the sea off Kenya by Europeans, and so without wanting to be the bearer of bad tidings there are likely to be other sites, all in the spirit of saving the odd buck, but I ask myself, for whom?

There is a group based at Caloundra who have been testing radiation for the past two years or so, and another at Nimbin for the past year. Both are getting higher than normal levels of radiation readouts. The normal for Nimbin has been .01% and now it's 6.95%, with every rain that falls, and I hear Caloundra levels are basically the same. A batch of food about to arrive from India recently, was found to have dangerous levels of radiation. A friend has been checking most of this out and found that the only food exporter that is under scrutiny is Japan, even though it's well known that California has high levels, but maybe with the radiated food from India our government has actually gotten around to safeguarding the public, even if it doesn't quite fit in with that 500,000 million population target figure. In the middle of all this, and many other items, the main head of Naturopathy has been sacked which only leaves 5 doctors who are wholly and solely motivated by the pharmaceutical companies without even being in possession of even a fleeting glance in the direction of natural medicine, which the powers that be are getting set to shut down, as they have been slapping false dangerous statements on one herbal cure after the other without it ever being displayed by the media.

And so here is a list of some of the natural medicines and advice that will help you get through an onslaught of radiation. Stay indoors; eat miso soup, sea weed, kelp, and chlorella. Seek the best holistic advice online and use reverse osmosis water filters.

Plants are also starting to show distortions in their growth performance and a Zucchini plant was seen to have its seeds growing on the outside of the fruit, along with deformed leaves. A new report on TV has it that the food growing lands are fast running out of nutrient although I think anything can be fixed if you know the science, and the spreaders of the food article would have to know that all clay which is under the surface of most topsoil has all the nutrient needed if mixed with topsoil. The picture seen after checking shows that all professions are corrupted on some levels in the current system. When Somalia was having difficulties with endemic poverty in the 70s or 80s the US sent them a ship load of milk powder knowing full well that on the scale tolerance that the Swedes are the most tolerant of milk and most Africans have the lowest tolerance. A lot died and nearly all babies died as a result. It seems there is a lot who will do anything to cash in on the wealth of Africa while aids was developed in a lab just for that purpose. If guessing, even the second world war could look like a scam to have gotten money out of the Jews who, after a thousand years of more, have learned well to store their money and valuables after being mistreated for being different, as they were at one stage at the crossroads of humanity which had to tramp through there to get to war with others. Sometimes if you pull some money in, and sometimes you don't, as they well found out it seems a strange position to be in when one considers the corruption of drilling for gas and ruining the water supply which in turn lowers the value of the land, driving out the owners if not killing them. That the gas companies are defended by the police. News in on identity chips is that when they first came out they could program there person to perform activities... and shut down life.

All of this leaves the govt complicit and derelict in its' duty, to protect the Australian public .The only conclusion to all information circulating the traps ,can be that the govt is too heavily involved with outside powers, and is not able to look after the best interests of the people. Information from sites' like U Tube describe the Australian constitution ,having been raided , and changed by our own law firms 'about 20 years' back, and supported by the govt. Now the general public has to pay road tolls , as opposed to the wealthy end of town,..who used to pay most of all road building costs , because their earnings are ,...and were,.. so high, that their taxation costs were high,.. as they should be,.. on such extensive earnings. The original reason would have been something like ,...if we don't fund roads ,we can't get workers to the workplace on time,.. or our shops for that matter. But now , heavily burdened with low wages , the workers have to supply the roads as well ,.. at the toll. All this,.. while the big end of town makes an even bigger percentage of wealth, than it did. Now to top it off ,...large dangerous , heavy ,road damaging, multi trailer trucks', <owned by a wealthy big business, with multiple tax concessions ,...to the point of not having to pay any tax.>,...that seem to get bigger each year,...have been put on our roads, without even asking for the permission of the public. As a part of this ,...the rail service ,...which has been sidelined deliberately ,...years' earlier,...is the one that should be delivering the freight,.. especially interstate and a lot, locally too.. because trucks wear out the roads,...and are extremely dangerous to the public. This is an ironic twist when one considers that big business is the one pocketing the money by not building the rail and as well getting the public to repair their once reasonable roads,... that theybig business wear out, and dont have to fund, and a few people ,...per year get killed into the bargain, as well. I suppose Halliburton's trucking business in the north is getting the same concessions. The new multi trailer and semi trailers should be scaled back to at least the level they were on ...to have some semblance of safety on the roads. It turns out that the coal seam gas operation appears to part of a larger foreign,... global plan ,as well....As it deliberately shuts down ,and damages water supplies, leaving the rest of the water aquifers, and others owned by big business, who have been deliberately advised to buy them, on the information a few years back,.....that there will not be much more water left,..leaving the water business looking good for a greedy few .A despicable situation when one considers that water has always been free,..pure,..and accessable to the public. I doubt the the integrity and authenticity of the new water supply ,... if it arrives.The market seems to be over run by vultures . I hear that the Rothchilds have bought large farming tracts in India , after it was stolen from local farmers by Monsanto and foreign water businesses,...probably in a bid to fill the old quote by them and their connections ,that he who control the food , controls the people ,and now in this case its water as well. Of course ,sadly it includes the rest of the world market ,...eventually. The scientists say climate change is here but they don't mention HAARP. As the sea makes 80% of of the worlds total oxygen, and when the issue is that the fish supply omega 3s. Then we need a pure and very abundant sea,.. to supply the few ,blood types that have become dependant on such food over thousands of years, as the sea is in a terrible state and needs urgent repair ,or rest,,,by all,, reports. There is a lot one can say about an eventual mop up for the earth and sea that could arrive. I wonder if fish have feelings. The Government is also complicit in putting the country in financial danger, by shutting down most local businesses, and leaving mainly mining, of which the latter could be shut down overnight, leaving a business uppercrust to clean out all savings and property. Just one hitch with the mining business and it could be all over, while ludicrous in a country that's loaded,....while it looks deliberate and anyone should be able to see that one basic business is a trap. Behaviour of children in schools has changed a lot in 20 years',...with constant reports from teachers' that the kids annoy and bully them so much at times, that they've had nervous breakdowns', and had to leave their jobs. The reply from the administrators has generally been one of dismissing the seriousness of the reports, leaving the teachers to their own devices', and many leave the job, even after showing videos of the kids quite unacceptable behaviour in the classroom,.. and still receiving no assistance from the management.. as a result of what looks like a cover up of dangerous trends. The education system is riddled with problems, the main one for me being, <as I discovered in school> there's no excitement in the work. And there should be,..as it is that. Whales keep beaching off southern Australia but has anyone checked them for sonar damage. Native medicine seems to have been largely neglected. The history of aboriginals in Tasmania, and the mainland is also scant. A.B.C. TV put out a report about two years back, that the disappearance of the Beamount children, and lots of others', over many years was finally solved. It turned out to be, that shopkeepers, were trawling the streets at night, offering drinks to children that were laced. It's said that that in the old days the Aborigines used to call the people that lived by the sea and inland waterways, ... the big fellas, which was because of the source of iodine with the eating of fish and waterweeds. The dryer areas produced smaller brothers, ...and they were. Australia's mainland is short of iodine.

Mobile phones ,in their present state ,will have go, and it's a strange topic to tackle , after seeing how addicted the public has become with them. ..To the extent that even if people know all the exact details' about the damage they cause to the body, they still resist any move to abandon them. All of which ,...is pretty much perfect proof, that they've gone stark raving mad ,...or at the very least are completely addicted to communication. Something has to be done about it quickly because the wireless connection damage report is a bit worse than the official report. The Germans ,...once again have covered that angle too, supplying a gadget that attaches to the mobile, and is available through the company memon. The wireless mobile idea is just another plan to lower the population, because one can see that its capable that of doing over time , which would leave them to pick up a lot of money and property,....because that's what's left when people die.One can just imagine how much property they will own when the population drops to a pitifull 500 million. I think it's got something to do with shopkeeping. You can have your quiet days' ,but if you have products' that appear solid, and wait long enough,.. the money will eventually accrue.Its a bit like that story about the illuminati. They say that they have a habit ,...sometimes, of releasing the idea before they do it, on some items,..even if its releasing a bomb. When after a bit of thought ,...one realises that they started out as shopkeepers, its stands to reason ,that if one has a customer who comes into the shop every Friday to buy their meat ,...and the shopkeeper wants to raise the price ,... he says to the customer something like ,.....in one month ,....Mrs Jones,..the price of steak will be going up due to certain costs. By the time the month is nearly over ,she expects it to be up, and will even ask ,...has it?and he says ,...of course, and she has the money ready. Its' a great political trick too,..amongst many thousands of others. Not that any of the bad news here will happen,.... as I know it won't. The memon products are wide and varied ,and all involve protection from certain electrical implements that are dangerous. There s also news', that councillors ,...or their leaders in Sydney, have just changed the rules', enabling them to sack councillors in other municipalities at will,..based on their idea of performance,....regardless of who voted for them,....and some have already been sacked. Also there's news of a plan to ban free speech, and it's hard to see how any politician would do it,..but when one sees' that newspapers are finally gone and we're down to three journalists,..writing all the news on the net,..its' probably well within reason that they might dump all the stories that don't match the politics'. At least it will be a quick read. Of course all these new changes came in because,.. like everybody,.. they just wanted the convenience,.. of not having to do all that work, because of a lousy system that keeps one run off their feet. It seems everybody needs a little time out , just to smell the roses. And it's hard to leave the work to others who are tired too. That word convenience,..... is how all these new products are coming in,.... and some are killers. There's another side to the use of WI FI transmission ,that has cropped up 'as well. It will kill the bees',... and lots' of other insects ,and eventually all animal life in its' vicinity. Crops won't be able to grow properly, and it will mean the food will be grown in all those commercial places' in the outback ,... and will be owned by foreigners' ..,..who might be more concerned with profit than health. Especially when one considers' their connections' . In other words',...it fits' in well with the idea of a total single business, that can not only withhold the water from the people,..but the food as well,...and at any price. In the meantime HAARP could drive the rain clouds away,. ..just to make sure. The weather is the result of cloud and sun changes that,.. that alter the position of the heat, ..further shifting the positions of the cloud,...wind,..and moisture in the air. The other problem with WI FI is that it lowers' melatonin levels in the body. Melatonin, fights off disease, and is many times stronger than vitamin C. In a system that keeps everybody on the go , its, sometimes' hard to get a decent sleep. One needs a good sleep and should be well asleep by no later than 10 pm , and up by 6 am to receive amounts of sun,.. which as well builds up Melatonin levels'. How else can illness be kept away if those things' are disturbed. WI FI might affect sleep as well,...and already one can see that it lowers' Melatonin levels which means its' most likely a deliberate attempt to kill people,.. in that the wealthy, who own the pharmaceutical companies,.. have all the scientists at their fingertips'. The latest claim ,is that HAARP can alter time, and the story goes back to a time ,when using Tesla technology, as described in the documentary, The Philadelphia Experiment,..they did just that,..so they say. It appears' that the gas drilling business, is one project ,working together in a huge operation with many other industries, as a ploy to wreck most of the basics, steal almost everything, and kill over three quarters of the population. The good news is we know about it ,and can stop it.

The latest news, just in, it's been found that the reason the government is not concerned with the bees dying is that when most of the Australian food bowl is bought, they won't need any bees because they will be using Monsanto food strains, which don't need pollination, but the rest of the flora & fauna can get stuffed, according to them

News 5 days ago on TV shows Chinese buying up many dairy farms in Australia and driving down the price of the product which forces out Australian farming families who've been here for over 100 years.

Three days ago, the TV report shows bee hives have been deliberately sprayed to wipe out colonies.

While being a vegetarian is seems it's still entirely necessary to come to the aid of farmers who for centuries have been providing meat for the public simply because there's a demand for it. But the news that's coming in is that there have been comments made on television that the lessening of eating red meat is better for our health, if one looks at the fact that a world land grab is happening and a lot has been grabbed already here in Australia simply by multinationals and governments manipulating the markets.

The question arises, if people suddenly stop eating meat, what is it going to do to the price of meat for the farmer? The answer is, his farm would become worth nothing and foreign buyers will be able to take it. So what we have here is a scam by multinationals to get Australian land cheaply and not so much an interest in health, because all along the same people have been claiming the benefit of meat, hence the double standards to use the farmers. If there's going to be a good change coming..... and there will be, it seems a pointless task excluding the farmers from missing out on the benefits when they have supported the country for a hundred years or more especially when you can see that the value paid will be far less than it should be witch amounts to daylight robbery to the farmers.

So they only need to drop the price of wool and they will have the whole country. And is that what you do, rob people before they are kicked out?

With the radiation in the northern hemisphere, news is coming through that babies been born in US and Japan have shocking defects and doctors are having to terminate their lives before the mother can even see their babies.
