Establishment of the Stop CSG Party

The Stop CSG Party is an independent grassroots based party created to empower Australians to use their democratic right to vote on an issue of national security.

The party was founded on the belief that coal seam gas will not stop without further increasing political pressure on the government. We view democratic participation in the election process as an additional strategic weapon that complements the grassroots work being achieved across Australia.

The Stop CSG Party is not politically aligned. The aim is to run candidates in the Senate in the upcoming federal election, providing voters the opportunity to voice their opposition to CSG whatever their political persuasion. We believe this electoral action will force all political parties to respond to the outcry shown across Australia.

Our role is focused on stopping CSG through political and legislative reform. The name of the party was chosen to reflect its core driving principle – to stop CSG as a political party. We believe our mission is clear and will not be confused with the community groups in Australia and across the world working to end CSG exploitation.

We applaud and support the work of community groups fighting against CSG. We hope they will support the mission and work of the Stop CSG party.

This Stop CSG party will provide a clear voice to an issue drastically affecting Australians and will hold all major political parties accountable for their policies and actions towards CSG.
