

Friends, here's the latest from the Stop Adani group that has organised a series of actions next week in southeast Queensland:

Due to the South-East Queensland lockdown announcement, we can no longer run our HSBC Letter Delivery action in person this week. So we are going to deliver our letters and demands with an online action!

You can still join us at: 9 to 10 AM tomorrow Friday, 2nd of July.

On this Zoom link: <https://uso2web.zoom.us/>

And we won't stop there. Covid-19 permitting we have committed to hosting the letter delivery the very next week on Friday the 9th of July at 9 am.

Click HERE to RSVP to our letter delivery next Friday.

And click going on our Facebook event HERE.

The #StopAdani movement has honed a bunch of simple, fun, and effective online tactics to pressure big investors. We'll do a few of these together.

It couldn't be a more important time for us to be launching this campaign on BlackRock, JP Morgan, HSBC, MUFG, and State Bank of India. Adani just announced that it has reached the top of the coal seam at its Carmichael mine.

Whilst the mine is far from operational - the pit is small, processing machinery hasn't been built and there is no rail line - it's a reminder of just how serious Adani is about building Australia's biggest ever coal mine.

Adani's announcement is a big opportunity for our movement. We can use this moment to shame Adani's 5 biggest investors - Blackrock, State Bank of India, HSBC, JP Morgan, and MUFG - for funding new coal in 2021 and push them to dump Adani.

I look forward to seeing you at our Digital Storm to deliver our demands to HSBC.

Matt Ross